Prince Maximilian of Baden Gave Out Statement Saying William Had Surrendered Throne.

IS ACCUSED OF TREACHERY

After Announcements Confidential Adviser Turned Emperor Out of Country and Into Holland.

In the early morning of July 22, the ministers of the German government, in connection with the abdication of the Kaiser, turned him over to his enemies at Berlin. No greater part of the day's 24 hours was given to the Kaiser than to his removal from the capital. At noon he was seen in a boat, followed by a crowd of people who had gathered to watch him leave. He was followed by his chief confidential adviser, Prince Maximilian of Baden, who was accused of treachery.

At 1 P.M. he was taken to a station where he was loaded into a truck and driven to a station near the town of Pforzheim, about 10 miles from Berlin. There he was received by his son, the Duke of Württemberg.

According to William, Holland's plan to get Germany out of the war was to have the Kaiser removed from Berlin, which was to be done by his chief confidential adviser to the Kaiser, Prince Maximilian of Baden, who was accused of treachery.

REPORTS OF GERMAN GIRLS MARRYING YANKS

CHICAGO, July 22.—Reports of marriages between American soldiers and German girls have been received at headquarters from various parts of the occupied area during the past five days but as yet no charges have been filed against any of the men as it is believed most of the marriages were due to misunderstandings or lack of knowledge regarding the anti-fraternization regulations.

A week before the treaty was signed, several of the chaplains through a misunderstanding informed the soldiers that marriages were permissible as soon as the Germans accepted the peace terms of the armistice but a number of the regiments took place before this became known by a general order from headquarters calling the attention of officers and men to the fact that until the United States ratified the treaty Germany and America technically were at war and the regulation prohibiting fraternization was still in force.

At headquarters it is said that even after the United States ratified the treaty marriages with German girls will be prohibited by an army order.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

May Be Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—This Letter Proves It.

See Philadelphia, Pa.—During the last 20 years I have been married. I have had bad health and had several attacks of nervous prostration until it seemed as if my whole body were gone. I was finally persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made a well woman of me. I can now do all the housework and work around the house without any trouble. It is effective, simple, and a blessing to me. I am now a healthy woman again.

No One Against Mulkey.

James Mulkey, a clerk at the Standard Oil Company, No. 2, who was dismissed from the service on a charge of being a traitor to his country, was the only one to support him in the case. The recommendation of the committee of inquiry was to expel him from the service. Mulkey is a native of the state and the charge was that he was a traitor to his country when the sign was signed at 2 o'clock Saturday morning.

The action of the committee has been condemned by many.
